IRIAM Debut Blueprint

How to Prepare and Maximize Your First 30 Days

Debut Support Program Edition

Introduction

Debut does not begin and end in a single day.
The preparation before debut and the actions taken during your first month shape your trajectory.

This document is a blueprint outlining where to focus before and after debut.

You do not need to do everything perfectly.
Start by understanding the full picture, and take action where you can.

Contents

1. Pre-Debut Checklist
2. Preparing Your Logo
3. Engage Actively in IRIAM Streams as a Viewer
4. Building Consistent Presence on SNS
5. Preparing Your #JumpOnIRIAM Post
6. Your First Month After Debut

Pre-Debut Checklist

- [ ] Prepare your logo (optional)
- [ ] Engage Actively in IRIAM Streams as a Viewer
- [ ] Post consistently on SNS and build visibility
- [ ] Plan and prepare your #JumpOnIRIAM post

Preparing Your Logo

A simple logo increases perceived professionalism and strengthens recognition across platforms.

Why It Matters

Recognition builds familiarity
Familiarity builds trust
A clean logo improves first impressions
It enhances your #JumpOnIRIAM visibility

How to Approach It

Commission via VGen
Ask your illustrator
Keep it simple and readable
Avoid overly detailed designs

Engage Actively in IRIAM Streams as a Viewer

Do not simply observe.
Choose to participate.

Engagement builds understanding.
Understanding builds belonging.

What to Do

Comment naturally and consistently
Greet streamers and viewers
Learn the rhythm of conversation
Support others when appropriate
Observe unspoken community norms

What to Avoid

Promoting yourself in others’ streams
Forcing attention to your debut
Viewing engagement as a transaction
Appearing only once and disappearing

Building Consistent Presence on SNS

Visibility is built over time.
Consistency makes you recognizable.

Why Consistency Matters

Repetition builds memory

Memory builds familiarity

Familiarity builds comfort

Comfort increases debut impact

What to Do

Announce your upcoming debut (#JumpOnIRIAM)

Post regularly — even small updates

Interact with others' posts

Show personality, not just announcements

Preparing Your #JumpOnIRIAM Post

Your debut post is not just an announcement.
It is the first impression of your presence.

What to Include

Your debut date and time
A short self-introduction
Your main streaming theme
One clear reason to follow you

How to Make It Strong

Keep it concise
Use a clear visual or key art
Pin the post
Reply to early comments

You only debut once on #JumpOnIRIAM.
Make it intentional.

Image Layout Templates

Strong visuals increase visibility.
Choose a layout template below to design your debut visual.

Browse Image Layout Templates →

Your First Month After Debut

Momentum matters more than hype.
Consistency turns visibility into community.

The 30-Day Rookie Window

Every new streamer appears in the Rookie tab
for their first 30 days.

This gives you initial visibility for 30 days.
What you build from it depends on you.

Stream consistently.
Turn first-time viewers into returning ones.

What to Focus On

Stream consistently (set a rhythm)

Keep engaging in other streams

Stay active on SNS

Value your early supporters

Reflect and adjust weekly

What to Avoid

Disappearing after debut week

Drastically changing your identity

Streaming without a schedule

Failing to learn from early audience response

Comparing yourself too early

The first month defines your trajectory.
Treat it like a launch phase.